

PCH Global's Market Reach Continues its Expansion in the Healthcare Arena

February 23, 2022

PCH Global, Exela's cloud-hosted healthcare gateway platform continues its adoption trajectory with the addition of an engagement by a large US healthcare company. Through PCH Global the company will immediately tackle obstacles that have been thwarting payment integrity objectives.

Exela's award winning solution delivers an optimal ROI to customers through a combination of technology and global personnel resources. Extending beyond traditional claims and records audit, Exela's solution incorporates an automated workflow process, proactively verifying claims prior to submission with real-time online correction and medical records review ensuring application and accuracy of all charges. PCH Global "gets it right the first time". Supported by Exela's vast global team of subject matter experts, this healthcare company no longer needs to be concerned with the prevailing labor shortages and can enjoy the benefits of minimal pending and denied claims, accelerated processing time, quality outcomes and reduced operating costs.